My first podcast!

What a thrill to be interviewed by Athena Dean Holtz, publisher of Redemption Press, on her All Things podcast last week. She asked about my Romans 8:28 moment, my publishing journey, and The Demons Among Us.

An update on Mom

She's hanging with me

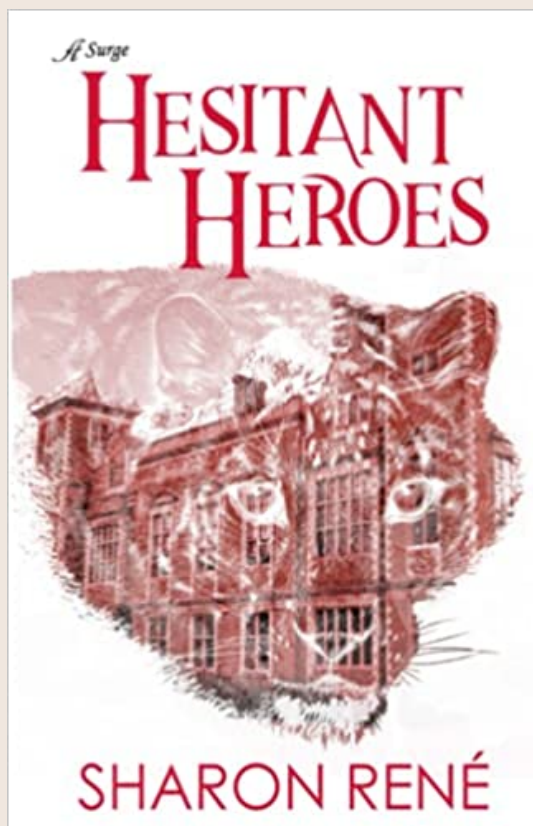

On October 10, the day of my book launch, Mom suffered an Ischemic stroke deep in her left brain that left her weak on her right side and a little confused. Since then her physical weakness has improved, but her mind has not. Last Friday she had a whopper of a hallucination that prompted another ER visit. Thankfully she had not experienced another stroke. She and I agreed that it would be best if she stayed with Marvin and me until she feels confident returning to her independent living facility. Many thanks to all of you who have prayed us through the past few weeks. (Photo taken at a 2018 tea party.)

Two fantastic teen book releases!

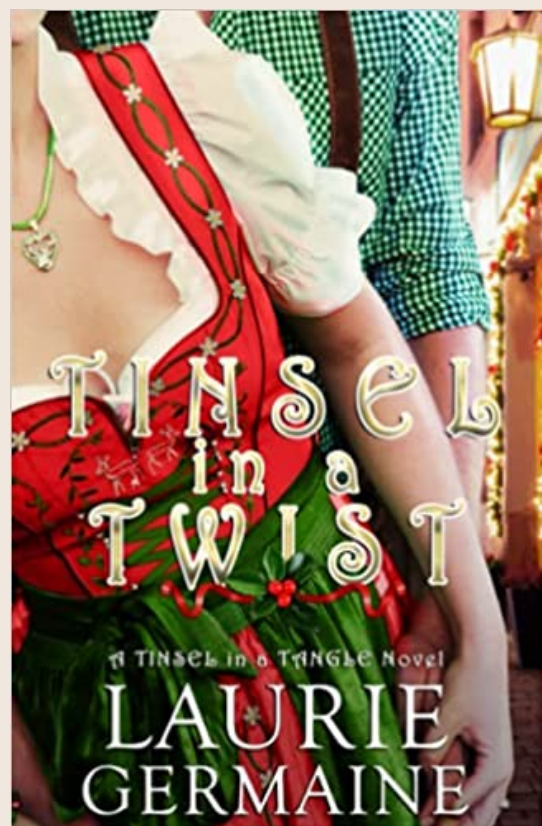

This month, you get a two-fer. Two of my critique partners launched YA books this fall, and I highly recommend them both. Perfect for Christmas gifts.

Hesitant Heroes

This first book in the Divine Destiny futuristic series follows a group of Christian friends who battle an evil government. Non-stop action with a taste of romance.

Tinsel in a Twist

Laurie's debut novel, Tinsel in a Tangle, lit up the Christmas shelves when it launched in 2017, and this sequel does not disappoint. A fun romp through two Toylands.

Vaccine vs Vaccination

It's all over the news—that V word. But are the reporters using it correctly? Here's your rule of thumb:

A vaccine is the liquid or preparation itself.

A vaccination is what you get when someone administers the vaccine to you.

Examples:

The vaccine arrived yesterday. You can get it at your local vaccination clinic.

As an aside, the Oxford English Dictionary chose vax for its word of the year.

I'd love to send you one of my short stories as a gift for subscribing to my blog. Simply complete the short form on my homepage (scroll down to the footer), and I'll email you a PDF of The Snake Slinger, a prequel to The Demons Among Us.

Enjoy this easy day-after recipe

Turkey Pot Pie

2 cans (15 oz. each) Veg-All mixed vegetables, drained

1 can (10-3/4 oz.) cream of potato soup

1/4 cup whole milk

2 cups shredded cooked turkey

1/4 tsp dried thyme

1/4 tsp black pepper

2 (9-inch) refrigerated ready-to-bake pie crusts

Preheat oven to 375° F. In a medium bowl, mix first six ingredients well. Place one pie crust into a 9-inch pie pan. Pour mixture over it. Top with remaining crust and crimp edges to seal. Slit top. Bake for 50-60 minutes on lower rack or until crust is golden brown. Allow pie to cool slightly before cutting into wedges to serve.

Makes 8 servings

May your family be blessed this season of thanksgiving.
